PROGRAMS WITH DON KOEPKE

Nurturing Spiritual Growth for the Second Half of Life

To be rooted is perhaps the most important and least recognized need of the human soul

Donald Koepke is Director Emeritus of the California Lutheran Homes Center for Spirituality and Aging headquartered in Anaheim, CA. A Lutheran parish pastor for 27 years, he was called to chaplaincy in 1994. In 2000 the CLH Board of Directors appointed him to be the founding director of the CLH Center for Spirituality and Aging, a post that he held until his retirement in July, 2008 when the Board made him Director Emeritus. The author/editor of the Taylor-Frances book, Ministering to Older Adults: The Building Blocks, he serves as chair-elect of the National Interfaith Coalition on Aging (NICA) headquartered in Washington DC. He is also the chair of the Editorial Board of the e-newsletter, “Aging and Spirituality” of the Forum for Religion, Spirituality and Aging (FoRSA) of the American Society on Aging and serves as Regional Chair for Certification for the Association of Professional Chaplains. A nationally recognized presenter, he has engaged caregivers, healthcare professionals and faith community leaders with the perspective that “Aging is a Spiritual Journey”.

These programs are supported by a grant from the ELCA Lutheran Services for the Elderly Endowment and LutheranCare.
